SALUTATIO.

With pleasant greetings we present to its readers the Miscellany, earnestly hoping that its contents may serve our purpose in affording to our fellow-students a convenient summary of information; to our alumni a reminder of pleasant by-gones, and to our friends and patrons a view of the interior of college life such as cannot be found in our catalogues and other college publications. The class of '76, the largest that ever entered our halls, offers this little work as a testimonial of its enterprise, and its interest in old Lafayette. The editors are sensible that their work will not escape criticism; yet they will feel amply rewarded if their efforts shall in any way serve to bind closer the bonds of friendship for our Alma Mater, or to enhance her interests.

CHANGES.

No period in the history of Lafayette College since its foundation has been so fruitful of important and gratifying changes as the one through which we have passed since the publication of the "MIRROR" in 1871. Lafayette is moving on with a majestic, irresistible step. She is sure to take a front rank among American Colleges, and we are justly proud of her name. But to the changes.

The work of beautifying the grounds—beautiful and picturesque by nature—began only in '70 and '71—has been carried to a very gratifying degree of perfection. Walks have been laid out and constructed; roads and drives have been surveyed and macadamized; sewers and drains have been constructed; shrubbery and shade trees have been planted or pruned; lawns and terraces have been graded and sodded; the old wooden steps at the foot of the Hill—having fallen in an unpropitious hour—have been replaced by a series of stone steps, and gradually ascending walks, whose sides are protected and adorned by a substantial iron balustrade of a neat pattern, thus making a continuous walk from the foot to the top of the Hill; a large granite monument, surmounted by a statue of a life-size soldier in full uniform, erected by the Alumni Association in memory of those who "died for the Union," crowns the summit of the Hill at the top of the winding walk; finally, all rubbish and debris have been removed to their "own place." So much for change and improvements in grounds.

The progress in buildings has been more marked still. The old "Refectory" has been decomposed and the adjustable parts re-arranged into a commodious carpenter-shop, in the background; the former residences of Doctors Coffin and Eckard have been conveyed north-east to the block recently purchased by the College, on which is situated several other residences now occupied by students as dormitories, or by the families of members of the Faculty; a new residence has been erected for Prof. E. H. Barlow, who has made gratifying progress towards inhabiting it with a family; McKeen Hall, between Newkirk and Martien, a large and commodious dormitory, has been built to accommodate some of the increased number of students; West Wing—an extension of East College—has just been completed, in which are rooms fitted up with improved furniture and apparatus for Prof. T. C. Porter in the department of Botany and Zoölogy, and on the first floor a spacious and elegant chapel. Important changes have been made also in the interior of the East College and in Jenks Hall, to the latter of which Prof. Moore has gone with all the apparatus connected with his department of Mechanics and Experimental Philosophy.

The Pardee Building, erected at a cost of $200,000, exclusive of furniture and apparatus, crowns the improvements under this head. We can do no better than quote from the last catalogue:

"It consists of one centre building five stories in height, fifty-five feet front and eighty-six deep, and two lateral wings, one at each side of the centre building, measuring sixty-one feet in length and thirty-one in width, four stories in height, including a mansard roof, the whole terminating in two cross wings forty-two feet front and eighty-four feet deep, and four stories in height. The entire length of front in a straight line is two hundred and fifty-six feet. The material is the Trenton brown stone, with trimmings of light Ohio sand stone. It is to be heated throughout by steam. The first floor is mainly devoted to the study of mining and metallurgy; the second contains the geological and mineralogical cabinets, a spacious auditorium, and smaller lecture-rooms, reading-rooms, and professors' studies. The third floor is devoted to the engineers. The right wing is occupied by the mining engineers. A large drawing-room occupies the lateral wing, while the cross wing embraces rooms for models and various professional purposes. The left wing is occupied by the engineers. The lateral wing comprises a drawing-room, and the cross wing is divided into rooms for lectures, working models, collections, and the like. On the fourth floor the same ample provisions have been made for the chemists. The centre building is divided into two large rooms, one for technical collections, the other an assistant's-room. The lateral wings are intended for quantitative and qualitative analysis. The cross wings at the extremity of the building are occupied by additional laboratories, lecture rooms, professors' studies, &c."

The Scientific Department is thus placed on a good basis, and the students pursuing this course can begin to vie with the Classical.

The large Reading-Room has been materially improved and beautified, and it, with the Library, Cabinet and Philosophical apparatus, has received many additions by rare and valuable contributions, and by purchase.

In the courses of instruction we may notice the introduction of the Patristic Classics in Latin and Greek; the addition of Law to the number of elective studies; the establishment of several valuable prizes in connection with the Patristic Course and English, and the election of new Professors to meet the necessities of new studies and students.

The Literary Societies have still open entertainments which are attended by large and appreciative audiences, attesting their increase in interest and merit.

The Lafayette Monthly, published by the Senior Class, has been so improved as to take no indifferent place among college periodicals.

While we are gratified in recording these unmistakable evidences of prosperity we must bow our heads in sorrow for the dead. From the students, Messrs. W. C. Cline of '73, E. A. Heberling and C. W. Sausser of '75, have gone to their rest; from the Trustees, Rev. Septimus Tustin, D.D., of Washington City, James McKeen, Esq., of Easton, and Joseph H. Scranton, Esq. of Scranton; from the Faculty, our beloved and revered Professor James Henry Coffin, LL. D.

From the study of the wonders of the firmament below, our good professor has gone to enjoy the delights of the world beyond the stars; from a contemplation of the luminaries of the universe into the presence of the King of Light. We need make no comments on a life so noble, so earnest, so dear as was his to all whoknew him.

Fellow Students, Alumni, Friends, Trustees and Faculty, let us rejoice in the prosperity of Alma Mater; let us study her interests; let us guard her honor and her name; and may we all, when the great change comes, sit down at the right hand of our Heavenly Father.

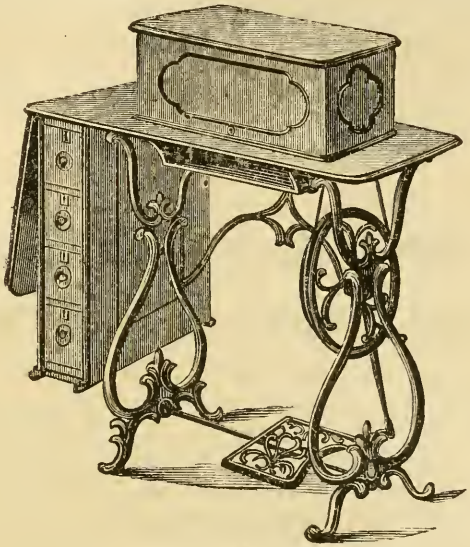
THE AMERICAN.



THE BEST AND MOST COMPLETE.

It is the universal verdict, North, South, East and West—That the American Co.'s machines are the nearest perfection of any machines in the world, performing the greatest range of work, and doing it with ease, in a beautiful, strong and efficient manner. THE AMERICAN is its own advertiser wherever it goes—winning its well-earned praise among families, and with manufacturers of every fabric which requires sewing. It does the whole range of plain sewing on every kind of material. It makes button-holes superior to any made by hand, and makes beautiful embroidery over the edge of garments. The construction of its shuttle and bobbin is such that it works with less noise than any other shuttle machine, and has a perfectly even tension, easily adjusted to any kind of thread or work. Its feed is raised or lowered to suit any fabric.

Be sure you examine this machine before purchasing any other—for no other machine will so thoroughly meet every want.

CHAMBERS'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA,

A Dictionary of Universal Knowledge for the People.

REVISED EDITION OF 1872.

Illustrated with numerous Wood Engravings and Maps. In Ten Volumes Royal Octavo. Bound in various Styles.

The publishers have the pleasure of announcing that they have recently concluded the revision of CHAMBERS'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA, and that the work is now complete in Ten Royal Octavo Volumes, of over 800 pages each, illustrated with about 4,000 engravings and accompanied by forty maps; the whole, it is believed, forming the most complete work of reference extant.

The design of this work, as explained in the Notice prefixed to the first volume, is that of a Dictionary of Universal Knowledge for the People—not a mere collection of elaborate treatises in alphabetical order, but a work to be readily consulted as a Dictionary on every subject on which people generally require some distinct information. The editors confidently point to the Ten volumes of which it is composed as forming the most Comprehensive—as it certainly is the Cheapest—Encyclopædia ever issued in the English language.
